Make the return to work feel less like work.

Post Covid team re-building workshops for business.

PowerProv - Improv for Business

Get things back to better than normal.

Sooner or later the office will come back to life and when it does your team might need help readjusting.

#WFH < #IRL

Working from home definitely has its perks, but there's no substitute for connecting with your peers in real life.

Help bring your teams back together with a fun-filled, results oriented workshop that will get them back into the swing of things in no time.

What this is:

- Improv-based training for business professionals.
- A proven program that uses behavioural science and procedural learning.
- Valuable and fun.

What you'll get:

- New tools for communication and collaboration.
- An action-packed session that will feel like it went by way too fast.
- Results you can see in your team and in their work.

See why hundreds of successful businesses rate us #1.
